Work programme for 2020 of the Rights, Equality and Citizenship Programme

1. INTRODUCTION

The annual work programme for 2020 for the Rights, Equality and Citizenship Programme aims to contribute to the further development of an area where equality and the rights of persons as enshrined in the Treaty on the European Union, in the Treaty on the Functioning of the Union, in the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union and in the international human rights convention to which the EU has acceded are promoted, protected and effectively implemented¹.

Funding translates EU policies into tangible results on the ground, empowering citizens, promoting justice and fundamental rights in people's day-to-day lives.

In particular, the Rights, Equality and Citizenship Programme supports the following specific objectives²: (a) promote non-discrimination; (b) combat racism, xenophobia and homophobia and other forms of intolerance; (c) protect the rights of persons with disabilities (d) promote gender equality; (e) prevent violence against children, young people and women; (f) protect the rights of the child; (g) ensure the protection of personal data; (h) enhance the exercise of rights deriving from EU citizenship; and (i) enforce consumers' rights.

To this aim, the work programme provides financial assistance for actions such as trainings, workshops, conferences, mutual learning and cooperation for a, media campaigns, awareness-raising and dissemination activities. It also provides support for actors whose activities contribute to the implementation of the objectives of the Programme, as national, regional and local authorities and non-governmental organisations and European-level networks.

Ensuring the protection of rights and empowering citizens

The work programme will finance activities on preventing and combating gender-based violence, including online violence. Violence against children³ will also be addressed, to contribute to the strengthening of child protection systems.

Funding for protecting the rights of the child will focus on child participation in the EU democratic and political life. The aim is to support the design and the implementation of different mechanisms and structures that ensure the rights of children are heard in the decision-making process, particularly on issues that matter to them.

³ Violence, as defined in Article 19 of the UN Convention on the rights of the child \(1989\): “all forms physical or mental violence, injury or abuse, neglect or negligent treatment, maltreatment or exploitation, including sexual abuse” and in General comment No 13 of the UN Committee on the rights of the child (2011) on the right of the child to freedom from all forms of violence

The General Data Protection Regulation⁴ entered into application in May 2018, strengthening citizens' rights and cut costs and red tape for European business. In order to concretely support the implementation of the legislation at national level, funding will continue to be provided to national Data Protection Authorities for reaching out to stakeholders on the new Regulation. The work programme will also continue to support awareness raising campaigns, complementing those at national level, and studies supporting the implementation of the data protection framework.

Citizens need to have better knowledge of their EU rights, in particular the right to move and reside freely on the territory of the Member States (including understanding the conditions that apply to this)⁵. Activities are envisaged in the work programme to continue knowledge-building and awareness-raising concerning the rights of Union citizenship and the associated EU common values, as well as to foster the successful inclusion and political participation of mobile EU citizens in civic and political life. Support for national cooperation networks on elections will also be ongoing.

In line with the Communication on a New Deal for Consumers⁶ the work programme will fund training for small and medium-sized enterprises to help them understand and comply more easily with consumer and marketing law⁷, as well as the content update of consumer and marketing law database integrated in e-Justice Portal. The Commission adopted in May 2019 the Digital content directive⁸ and the Sales of goods directive⁹, that will ensure a high level of consumer protection and increase legal certainty for both consumers and traders in millions of everyday transactions. The work programme will finance analytical activities and coordination meetings to support Member States in their preparatory work for a smooth and timely transposition of the directives.

Promoting non-discrimination and equality

The work programme continues to promote equality and tackle discrimination by supporting the implementation of the LGBTI List of actions¹⁰; initiatives promoting diversity management, monitoring and enforcing non-discrimination legislations, fighting discrimination against Roma and antigypsyism and enhancing stakeholder dialogue on Roma equality and inclusion at European and national levels. Funds are further deployed to complement the activities by Member States and equality bodies in promoting and protecting rights and implementing the EU anti-discrimination legislation, including Commission Recommendation on standards for equality bodies¹¹, and to improve the collection of equality data.

To address the worrying increase of intolerance in our societies, funds are allocated to actions aiming at improving responses to racist hate crime and speech and better support victims; preventing and countering racist speech online and racism in the media; fostering tolerance and mutual respect and dialogue. The work programme will also continue to assist Member States in developing a common methodology on collecting data on hate crimes and hate speech as well as training for law enforcement to deal with hate crime and speech cases.

In particular, financial support will be provided to the work of the Commission's coordinators on combating Antisemitism and anti-Muslim hatred, with a view to encourage dedicated actions to help people belonging to these and other vulnerable communities.

Delivering on the priorities of the European Disability Strategy 2010-2020¹², funding is allocated to actions aiming to promote and protect the rights of persons with disabilities, in line with the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities¹³. The work programme envisages, among others, the conception of a communication and awareness raising campaign on the follow up to the current Disability Strategy, to enhance knowledge on achievements at European and national level to protect the rights and improve the life of persons with disabilities.

The Commission continues to promote gender equality on the basis of the strategic engagement for gender equality¹⁴ and in line with the gender pay gap action plan¹⁵ as well as the initiative on work-life balance for working parents and carers¹⁶. To this aim, the work programme will support awareness raising and other activities for the empowerment of women and girls, tackling gender stereotypes in education and early childhood care, in educational and career choices, in a digitalised world.

2.2.4. Call for proposals limited/restricted to national Data Protection Authorities on reaching out to stakeholders on data protection legislation

LEGAL BASIS

Art. 4 and 5 Regulation (EU) No 1381/2013

Specific objective: to contribute to ensuring the highest level of protection of privacy and personal data

PRIORITIES

Considering Regulation (EU) 2016/679 on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data (General Data Protection Regulation), the actions aim to support national data protection authorities in: reaching out to stakeholders through raising awareness among business stakeholders, in particular small and medium-sized enterprises, and through the general public. Building on the experience from the same calls for proposals launched in past years and depending on the needs of national data protection authorities, further support to national data protection authorities might be necessary in reaching out to stakeholders to ensure awareness on the data protection legislation and replying to their queries.

The Commission published in 2018 a Communication on Stronger protection, new opportunities - Commission guidance on the direct application of the General Data Protection Regulation as of 25 May 2018 (COM(2018) 43). The aim is to facilitate a direct and smooth application of the data protection rules across the EU. The guidance recalls the main innovations, opportunities opened up by the new rules, takes stock of the preparatory work already undertaken and outlines the work still ahead of the European Commission, national data protection authorities and national administrations.

DESCRIPTION OF ACTIVITIES

Supporting national data protection authorities on reaching out to business and citizens through:

- supporting data protection authorities in raising awareness among business stakeholders (in particular small and medium-sized enterprises), in replying to their queries on the implementation of the General Data Protection Regulation and in facilitating compliance of small and medium-sized enterprises with the General Data Protection Regulation; this objective can be achieved through the development of “hotlines”;
- supporting data protection authorities in their awareness-raising activities aimed at the general public.

EXPECTED RESULTS

- increased knowledge and understanding among business stakeholders, in particular small and medium-sized enterprises, about data protection rules;
- increased awareness of data protection among the general public.

ESSENTIAL ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

To be eligible, grant applications must comply with all of the following criteria:

- a) applicants must be national data protection authorities within the meaning of Art. 51 of Regulation (EU) 2016/679; partners must be public entities or private organisations, duly established in one of the countries participating in the Programme;
- b) the project can be either national or transnational;
- c) the application may involve one or more organisations (applicant and partner(s));
- d) the EU grant applied for cannot be lower than € 75 000.

LEGAL BASIS

Art. 4 and 5 Regulation (EU) No 1381/2013

Specific Objective: to promote and enhance the exercise of rights deriving from citizenship of the Union

PRIORITIES

1. The actions aim to enhance and develop citizenship of the Union - indicative amount: € 1 000 000.

More specifically to: promote awareness, gather data and build knowledge concerning EU citizenship rights and associated European common values and common democratic standards; foster the inclusion and provision of information to mobile EU citizens and their family members; encourage democratic participation of mobile EU citizens and under-represented groups, including women, Roma, young people and citizens with a disability. The actions should support the efforts of Member States and civil society organisations in this domain, complementing and not duplicating the work being funded elsewhere by the Commission.

2. Restricted to public authorities, the actions aim to support national cooperation networks responsible for bringing together the national authorities and bodies involved in elections (such as in their organisation, and in the monitoring and enforcement of legislation) - indicative amount: € 1 000 000.

The overall purpose is to support the integrity of free and fair elections in Europe, preserving the democratic institutions and citizens' participation in them. Coordination within and among such networks could lead in particular to the establishment of common working methods to detect and address threats to elections (potentially setting up alert systems), best practices and guidelines.

DESCRIPTION OF ACTIVITIES

1. To enhance and develop citizenship of the Union, promote awareness of EU citizenship rights, Union values and democratic standards, gather data and build knowledge concerning EU citizenship rights and foster inclusion and provision of information to mobile EU citizens and their family members and encourage democratic participation of mobile EU citizens and under-represented groups.

Activities may consist of projects; training; seminars; awareness-raising practices; data gathering and consultation, development, exchanges and dissemination of best practices amongst public authorities and civil society organisations. This could involve in particular:

- data-gathering and consultation on the way EU citizenship rights are used, on how to build knowledge of these rights and on how such rights might be enhanced and developed;
- ways of fostering engagement in the democratic life of the European Union (through e.g. facilitation of access to cross-border and local political information, and the promotion of common democratic standards and awareness of the European dimension in politics) and representation as well as participation in local and EU elections, including of young people, women and EU citizens living in another EU country than their own (through e.g. digital, interactive, innovative tools);

- inclusion policies and best practices which do not solely focus on one profile of mobile EU citizens, but rather take into account both the different needs of these EU citizens and their family members as well as the challenges cities are facing when welcoming them (e.g. housing, schooling, inclusion in the job market, involvement in community decision-making and volunteering etc.), and which promote multiculturalism;
- dissemination of practical information and advice on what the rights of EU citizens and their family members are, including voting rights, residence rights and responsibilities of mobile EU citizens in a given country/region/city and assistance in seeing them through.

2. Restricted to public authorities: to support national electoral cooperation networks and a European coordination of these networks

Activities may consist of workshops, seminars, conferences, expert meetings at various levels as appropriate (high level meetings may be needed to coordinate on policy approaches, while technical exchanges among experts may be needed to implement such policies); mutual learning, the development of tools or guides, cooperation exercises; analytical studies; awareness raising activities, as well as information exchange platforms.

Furthermore, actions may include creating fora for sharing expertise among the national authorities to monitor and explore challenges and detect threats, to monitor enforcement and administrative practices and to identify gaps in existing frameworks, including cross-border implications, and to raise awareness among stakeholders and citizens. Actions could also provide for national contact points to enable an efficient and effective exchange of good practices among Member States and coordination at the European level.

EXPECTED RESULTS

1. To enhance and develop citizenship of the Union:

- improved information on the way EU citizenship rights are used and how they are implemented in Member States;
- raised awareness and better provision of information to mobile EU citizens and their family members on their EU citizenship rights with resulting better knowledge of EU rights and conditions;
- improved availability, awareness and participation of mobile EU citizens in civic activities in their host communities, such as volunteering groups and local decision making bodies, including school boards and community organisations;
- increased capacity of national, regional and local experts to enable and facilitate the participation of mobile EU citizens and their family members in the political and social life of their host communities;
- strengthened cooperation and exchange of information between competent public authorities in relation to enabling mobile EU citizens' participation in their host Member States and local communities.

2. Restricted to public authorities: to support national electoral cooperation networks and a European coordination of these networks:

- improved monitoring and understanding of the challenges and risks to an election process, and to the regulatory framework, for preserving the integrity of democratic elections in Europe;
- increased capability and awareness of authorities and relevant bodies involved in elections of their respective roles and responsibilities in this domain and their better collaboration.
- streamlined and effective European level coordination in electoral matters.

The guidelines describe a number of concrete institutional and operational steps that EU Member States can take to enhance the collection and use of equality data. They suggest how to improve the availability and quality of the data and how to promote their effective use in developing evidence-based equality and non-discrimination policies and monitoring their effective implementation.

Furthermore, the European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights has also published an online compendium of nearly 40 practices from 15 countries on the collection and use of equality data (<https://fra.europa.eu/en/news/2019/better-data-better-equality>).

3.2.4. Call for proposals on closing gender gaps over the life-course: addressing gender equality and empowerment of women and girls through tackling gender stereotypes in education and early childhood care and in educational and career choices in a digitalised world

Art. 4 and 5 Regulation (EU) No 1381/2013

Specific objective: to promote equality between women and men and to advance gender mainstreaming

PRIORITIES

One of the fundamental issues to tackle in order to reach gender equality is the persistence of gender stereotypes. From a very young age onwards, children are exposed to gender roles that shape their self-perception and influence their academic and professional choices as well as expectations of their roles as women and men throughout their life. Furthermore, gender stereotypes keep on influencing choices with regard to employment and combination of work and private life. Digitalisation can in this respect both offer opportunities and challenges to address gender stereotypes.

This call for proposals shall focus on actions in order to raise awareness and tackle gender stereotypes in education, in particular in early childhood education and care and in schools, and in educational and occupational choices in a digitalised world. Therefore, priorities shall be on:

- 1. Tackling gender stereotypes in education and early childhood care, focusing on measures such as those aiming at changing attitudes, behaviours and practices that hamper progress towards equality and restrict the potential of girls and boys. They shall target specifically childhood environments (kindergartens, pre-schools and schools), in terms of those who are delivering care and in the messages delivered, the choices of tools, pedagogical material, or the design of settings, etc.

One of the crucial elements is the awareness of professionals of the early childhood care and education sectors of their own unconscious bias affecting their interactions with boys and girls, and their active involvement in ensuring a gender-transformative environment for girls and boys and their families. Capacity-building and training activities are therefore encouraged.

- 2. Tackling gender stereotypes in educational and career choices in a digitalised world, focusing on the opportunities and challenges of ongoing digitalisation on tackling gender stereotypes. Particularly, on how digitalisation can benefit all students and workers/employees (e.g. new forms of work, upskilling for workers), to positively impact gender equality and to help break gender stereotypes. Furthermore, proposals shall address how the risks of reproducing gender stereotypes through digitalisation (e.g. algorithms, artificial intelligence) can be mitigated.

By combatting harmful negative gender stereotypes and discriminatory practices in education and early childhood care, and in addressing the potential and pitfalls of digitalisation on educational and professional choices, proposals are to impact positively on girls and boys perception of gender roles.

The call for proposals aims to raise awareness of gender equality issues from an early age, to fight differential treatment of girls and boys and of women and men according to gender assumptions in order to ultimately overcome gender stereotypes with regard to roles of women and men at home, at work and in society.

The call for proposals is in line with current policy developments at EU level, including the initiative on work-life balance for working parents and carers of April 2017, the Gender Pay Action Plan of November 2017 and falls under the first and second thematic priority areas of the European Commission Strategic Engagement for Gender Equality 2016-2019.

DESCRIPTION OF ACTIVITIES

Activities shall include:

1. Tackling gender stereotypes in education and early childhood care

- activities tackling negative attitudes and stereotypes with regard to gender roles in early childhood education and care systems, and educational and career choices;
- awareness-raising, education and empowerment activities; in particular awareness-raising activities for professionals of pre-school and school systems on an education, work and life free of stereotypes, including gender roles and attitudes towards domestic work, care, work and public life.

2. Tackling gender stereotypes in educational and career choices in a digitalised world

- activities focusing on the impact of digitalisation on career and professional choices, highlighting its opportunities and tackling potential hindrances as well as mitigating the risks that certain digitalised instruments bring about in intensifying gender stereotypes (e.g. gender bias through use of algorithms for recruitment procedures);
- exchange of good practice, mutual learning, seminars, in particular, activities promoting good practice examples;
- training activities for professionals of childhood care in the education sector and in the world of work; or with regard to overcoming gender stereotypes and roles in early childhood environments and in a digitalised world.

It is strongly encouraged to involve a public authority, including regional and local authorities, to actively participate in the projects. This requirement will be assessed under the award criterion (b) quality of the proposed action.

To ensure complementarity with other EU funded actions, proposals may consider similar activities supported via other EU programmes such as the Framework Programme for research and innovation - Horizon 2020.

EXPECTED RESULTS

- gender stereotypes and negative gender roles are tackled, through awareness raising and training of those who are in daily contact with children, in early childhood education, care systems, schools and companies or bodies which foster educational and professional choices;
- increased knowledge and practices are shared with regard to more informed educational and occupational choices in a changing world due to digitalisation;

- both boys and girls and men and women develop their skills without stereotypes gender prejudices and feel more comfortable in an equal sharing of care and domestic work at household level, and they are able to develop their skills and training which will lead to less gender segregation in career choices and occupational choices.

ESSENTIAL ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

To be eligible, grant applications must comply with all of the following criteria:

- applicants and partners must be public entities or private organisations, duly established in one of the countries participating in the Programme, or an international organisation. 3.3.2. Direct award of an operating grant to a de facto monopoly

LEGAL BASIS

Art. 4 and 5 Regulation (EU) No 1381/2013

Specific objective: to promote the effective implementation of the principle of non-discrimination on the grounds of sex, racial or ethnic origin, religion or belief, disability, age or sexual orientation, and to respect the principle of non-discrimination on the grounds provided for in Article 21 of the Charter

Art. 195(c) of the Financial Regulation

PRIORITIES

The focus shall be to promote equal treatment of all persons without discrimination on grounds of racial or ethnic origin or sex.

In accordance with Union acts on equal treatment, Member States set up independent bodies for the promotion of equal treatment, commonly known as "equality bodies", in order to combat discrimination based on race and ethnic origin as well as gender.

Equality bodies play a key role in promoting equality and ensuring effective application of equal treatment legislation by providing in particular an independent assistance to victims of discrimination, conducting independent surveys concerning discrimination, publishing independent reports and making recommendations on any issue relating to discrimination in their country. It is essential that the work of equality bodies is coordinated at Union level in this respect.

EQUINET, the European Network of Equality Bodies (registered in Belgium), was created in 2007. Its members are the national bodies for the promotion of equal treatment as established by art. 13 of Racial Equality Directive 2000/43/EC, art. 12 of Equal Treatment between men and women in goods and services Directive 2004/113/EC, art. 20 of Equal Treatment between men and women in employment Directive 2006/54/EC and art. 11 of Equal Treatment between men and women in self-employment Directive 2010/41/EU.

EQUINET is in an exceptional situation, being the only entity which ensures coordination of activities between equality bodies. This coordination activity by EQUINET is key for the good implementation of Union anti-discrimination law in Member States and should be supported via an operating for a de facto monopoly situation.

The Commission will invite EQUINET in writing to submit its proposal announcing the annual priorities for 2021.

DESCRIPTION OF ACTIVITIES

This grant aims to support the activities implemented in 2021 by the European Network of the Equality Bodies, for sharing experiences and good practices between them.

EXPECTED RESULTS

- increased capacity of national equality bodies experts to address issues related to non-discrimination and the implementation of EU legislation in the field;
- strengthened cooperation and exchange of information between Equality Bodies;
- improved knowledge on the legislation and administrative practices related to non-discrimination.

ESSENTIAL AWARD CRITERIA

Proposals will be assessed based on the following award criteria:

- (a) extent to which the proposed annual work programme addresses the priorities announced by the Commission;
- (b) quality of the annual work programme, which must be clear, realistic and well detailed;
- (c) European added value of the annual work programme;
- (d) expected results, dissemination, sustainability and long-term impact;
